FRIDAY, MARCH 24, - 1893.

Senator Harris has succeeded Senator Macon as President pro tem of the Senate.

Judge Lorton, of Tennessee, who will succeed Judge Jackson, has been made the most great man, a native of Kentucky.

Platoon Cavalry has returned to England, leaving behind her a dense ignorance of the proper pronunciation of her name.

Mrs. Miller, a Boston widow worth $5,000,000, has married Peter Surin, her cousin, who is only one third her age.

Billy Sterns has again returned to Nashville and is making a red-hot race for Mayor. There are two other candidates.

Two men were in the list of Presidential appointments this week, but the President explained that they were "exceptional cases."

The Presidency of the Indiana State University at Bloomington has been tendered to Gen. Ben Harrison and he will probably accept.

For the third time the Bob Thomas case at Magnolia resulted in a hung jury. The Commonwealth's Attorney says he will try it no more.

R. B. Hutton and Webb Smith, two young men of Mason County, Ky., left for Chicago Monday on foot, on a walking tour for a game of $100.

John Smith, who was reported dead by the Frankfort Courier, has turned up alive as President of a new bank just started at Fordville, Kentucky.

There will be 150,000 dead head season tickets to the World's Fair. Most of them will be issued to stockholders, city officials, Congressmen and newspaper men.

Commissioner Blount, accompanied by Mrs. Blount and a stenographer of the State Department, sailed from San Francisco for Hawaii, on the 20th, on the U. S. cutter, Itasca.

Mr. G. A. Hoberman, Sergeant of the Court of Appeals for a general term, died at his home in Frankfort, Ky., on the 20th, at the age of 70.

Ex-Senator Ender, the new minister to France, is one of the most scholarly and accomplished men in America. He will represent his country abroad with the highest honor.

The President has laid down still another rule for official entertainers. Applicants must not be related to him in any way, as he is uniformly opposed to nepotism in general.

The row between Miss Symmes and Miss Carter, of the Louisville Columbian Club, is attracting more attention than the controversy over the penitentiary matter. Don't girls don't.

The Bowling Green Times is already ready for the announcement of Union Democrats who are preparing for officers to be filled November 1894. This is rather overlooking the early bird business.

The Attorney General has filed the long and tedious suit against the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company, for $50,000,000. It is a suit for damages, and the plaintiff has a right to recover all branches of the company in dispute.

Carlyle W. Harris, the wife-murderer, whose trial at New York has occupied so much attention, has been condemned to death. He proclaimed his innocence in a dramatic address of an hour and forty minutes.

Miss Ida Symmes has resigned the Presidency of the Louisville Columbian Club, in the interest of harmony. The row in the club had gotten its affairs into a pretty bad way. A fourth Symmes Hole is there.

Fort Assistant P. M. General Maxwell assumed charge of his office Wednesday and found that nearly 5,000 regulations of postmaster's law did not want to be bound. These vacancies will be filled before any petitions for removal are considered.

The Democratic cause has nominated the following Senate officers: Wm. B. Cox, of North Carolina, Secretary; Edward J. Bright, Indiana, Sergeant at arms; Rev. W. H. Miller, of Kansas, Chaplain.

Speaking of the lack the Senate is playing in this year's session, it is that the Browns are also doing pretty well, thank you. Any two of them would do the State's business in Congress and the first postmaster appointed by President Cleveland was a member of this highly esteemed family.

THE WORK BEGUN.

The President Makes a Start in Turning the Rascals Out.

Ray Gordon 2-4.

The esteem the lawdors of this and adjoining courts have for law books and especially for fast factures is illustrated in the patronage accorded the noted publisher, Geo. H. Ragsdale, of the last two sessions. For several years there has been a growing interest in well bound books in this section of the State, and to meet the demand for an ideal binding annual Mr. R. H. Ragsdale purchased four years ago the station Ray Gordon, who at once took rank as the best and fastest printing house in this section of the State. This rapid growth of business has led to the purchase of a new building, and the firm has moved to its new quarters. The new building is a fine structure, and the firm has moved to its new quarters. Mrs. Layne's Spring Opening.

In this house, Mrs. Ada Layne, makes an announcement of her spring opening of millinery goods at her new quarters in the Gosh corner, opposite the Phoenix Hotel. This grand and gorgeous display of fancy millinery and notions will open Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 30, 31, and April 1. Mrs. Layne has just back from Chicago with a tremendous stock of these goods and will place them on exhibition on this occasion. The taste in the selection of such goods cannot be excelled and the ladies, appreciating this fact, are always sure to see her stock before making their purchases. Remember the dates and do not fail to attend this grand display.

Bookkeepers: Noel Davis has been grandly and well equipped with the latest and best of the new and improved. Try him for it.

The Cabinet county grand jury found about one hundred indictments against their recent term. Of these it was for violating the prohibition law in Princeton. This has had the effect of closing out the "small fry" in the place, but it is said that the "big boys" have opened their doors for an increase of business. An effort will be made to take a vote on the liquor question in the next session of May, and if the "wets" are victorious the result will have the effect of dissolving all the indictments pending. If, on the other hand, the "drys" carry the day there will be great trouble among the "quidnuncs," as the full penalty—fine and imprisonment—would most likely be inflicted in each case.

The stockholders in the new hotel company met and organized Monday.

Of the 200 shares, 200 were represented. The proxy of Mr. J. C. Latham, representing a majority of these, was held by Messrs. E. P. Campbell and H. C. Galt. The cost for the following directors: J. C. Latham, E. P. Campbell, H. C. Galt, E. M. Plack, F. L. Ellis, A. H. Anderson and Hunter Wood. Other gentlemen received complimentary votes, which they named were of course effect. They were named in a short while to select a President and Secretary and to elect a board of directors. The hotel is expected to be done in six months.

The coal miners in the employ of the Memphis Coal and Mining Company at Beaver, near Central City, went out on a strike this week. They claim that too much of their mine is scattered in dumping and is carried over to the next coal house. This is the first time these miners have been on a strike this year, but it is likely the trouble will be settled in a few days and they will resume work.

Agnes Watson is Trouble.

Eliza Tuller, colored woman, 70 years old, was found in three cases for violating the local option law in Trenton, Tuesday. She had been suspected of carrying a "sided" light in the place for some months and a court of inquiry brought out the facts. The old woman is credited with having a good song sung of money laid away, but she refused to pay her fines and costs—which amounted to about $75—and was sent to the "lock-up" to serve out the amount at a dollar a day. It is believed that there are other "tigers" being operated in the place and the chance is that the old lady will have company before her time is up.

A Dangerous Runaway.

A fine young mare belonging to Mr. S. H. Chagnot became frightened at some object while being driven down East Seventh street by his son Harry, Tuesday afternoon, and ran off, colliding with a box car at the corner. The animal fell, crushing the occupants, Harry and his little sister, out. The moment of danger they had on hand so badly injured that she had to be put to death. It was fortunate for the children that the train happened to be passing at the time. The frightened animal might have dashed against some other object further down the street and made matters more serious.

Heavy Bales This Week.

Our sales of the week continue to increase with little break and everything appears lively in tobacco circles. About four hundred bales were shipped from Henderson Tuesday and former good prices prevailed. Several bales of good quality brought $13, while quite a number ranged from $10 to $13. There is a demand for dark leaf and prices were especially strong on this class. Rejections on all grades were few, nearly all the offerings going to satisfactory prices. Receipts are first class, nearly five hundred bales being reported for the week ending Wednesday. The good prices during stock now on hand at once, and the improved condition of the market now permits such action.

Killed By the Car.

Con Murphy was killed by the cars about one and a half miles south of Madisonville Tuesday night. Murphy spent the day in Madisonville and indulged pretty freely in liquor. He was seen in that place as late as 10 o'clock at night; it is stated. The supposition is that he started to his home, which was in Earlington, and becoming very tipsy lay down to rest on the railroad track and was struck by the first passing train. His neck was broken, skull crushed, and his face and shoulders were lacerated in a horrible manner. His death must have been instantaneous. Murphy was 35 years old and leaves a wife and two small children. He was an engineer, and formerly worked for the L. & N., but of late had been without employment a good portion of the time. Last twenty-four hours before he was killed he walked into an undertaker's establishment in Earlington and sitting up the corpse remarked that they had one just his size. Sure enough the one he selected so peculiarly a few hours before was used to enclose his mangled remains.

Set of All.

To clean the system in a gentle and truly beneficial manner, when the Spring comes, use the true and perfect remedy, Syrup of Figs. INDIAN POPULATION.
The next item of the report is the estimate of an extremely false

published in the census of 1900 of the census bureau. It is

The government makes it a point to exaggerate the danger of both the Indians and the agents to exaggerate the danger. The vanity of the Indians to help to deceive all who are sure their numbers. "We leave on the trees," they fond of saying. Now that they have been corralled on reservations is ably continued by the government upon them.

Lewis and Clarke, in their heroic journey to the Pacific, gave figures as to the exorbitant tribes they saw or they calculated that, be-tribes composed of 80,000. They estimated that there were many Indians as that on the west side of the Rockies, and that 22,000 in the Oregon territory, which was the open country. When it is remembered that a part of the United States had become familiar with, it was, at that rate of calculation, a large number of red people had been very great. Gatlin, a learned man in his time upon the subject, estimated the number of Indians in his day. It is said that

Col. Dodge says that he got his figures from an Indian agent. Dodge says, the estimates of the total number of the first settlements by the whites range from 900,000. He takes a count of the great territory acquired, and of the "sum of fecundity among their kind reaches the conclusion that the population of the country at that time much exceeded 1,000,000. Col. Dodge's book was published in 1885, and he says that the
